Ten Minds is a local Business Club providing the opportunity to meet and network with other business people who are experiencing similar challenges in a difficult economic climate. Ten Minds is not a traditional networking Group, its members support each other to help grow their businesses as well as providing the opportunity to gain experience and share and discuss business problems and challenges.

It also provides an excellent opportunity to share and obtain business referrals.

Stephen Castledine, Chairman said "Our membership is local business people who are keen to develop their business, we all have similar business challenges and Ten Minds provides an ideal opportunity to work together to grow and develop our businesses. We provide a great environment at our weekly meetings and members gain great business tips and advice from each other."

Stephen went on to invite all local business owners "to come along and experience the Group"; they meet at 7am each Friday at the Angel Hotel, Market Harborough.
